

Triad Technology Partners Announces the Addition of MobileIron to Triad's GSA Schedule

Bethesda, MD -- October 16, 2012: Triad Technology Partners, provider of Enterprise IT Service and Asset Management solutions, is pleased to announce the addition of MobileIron's Mobile Application Management solutions to Triad's GSA Schedule, GS-35F-0298W. With the enterprise use of mobile devices exploding within the public sector, government agencies are looking for solutions that will allow their end users access to corporate data stores while maintaining ease of use and information security. MobileIron is widely recognized as an industry leader in Mobile Device and Mobile Application Management.

"Mobile is driving sweeping changes in how government organizations enable their employees to be productive. With MobileIron, they know they can protect their data while still giving their employees the flexibility to use the mobile apps and devices of their choice," said Matt Hartley, Director of Federal Sales, MobileIron. "We are pleased to be working with Triad Technology Partners to give our government customers the technology and best practices that will make them successful."

"We are really excited to enhance our Mobile IT solution portfolio with this relationship. Beyond addressing the immediate needs of BYOD, MobileIron will provide our clients with a scalable solution to tackle the evolving requirements of supporting and securing a mobile application strategy," adds Tim Hohman, CEO of Triad Technology Partners.
