

Triad Technology Partners, LLC named #1 IBM Maximo Reseller for North America in 2011

BETHESDA, MD -- March 14, 2012: Triad Technology Partners, LLC announced today that IBM named Triad Technology Partners as the #1 IBM Maximo Reseller for North America in 2011. Triad Technology Partners prides itself on its enterprise asset management implementation expertise and its excellent customer service. This is the second year in a row that Triad Technology Partners has been named the #1 IBM Maximo Reseller for North America.

IBM Maximo Asset Management software unifies asset life cycle tracking and maintenance management on a single platform. The software system provides government agencies and other organizations insight into their enterprise assets, their conditions and work processes, for better planning, control, and utilization.

Triad Technology Partners works closely with IBM to market and implement the IBM Maximo Asset Management solution into the U.S. government market.

"Triad's revenue results aren't surprising given their long tenure and domain expertise in the Maximo Public Sector space. With their recent expansion and focus to the commercial sector, we look forward to expanding the IBM relationship to what's been nothing except a very successful partnership" said Matt Simmons of IBM

The Triad Professional Services has a team of skilled asset management consultants with years of experience implementing IBM Maximo as well as other CMMS systems. Our talented senior consulting team has successfully implemented Maximo in both the public and private sector, across multiple industries. Additionally, the company offers a number of complementary software solutions specifically chosen to increase the effectiveness of each Maximo implementation.
